ABSTRACT

Irna Pitaloka Allotodang. Teaching English Using Duolingo Application to Enhance Students' Achievement. (Supervised by Dahlia D. Moelier and Andi Hamzah Fansury).

The background of this study is the fact that the students' opinion about learning English is bored and hard for learn.

The objectives of the research was to know the use of Duolingo application to enhance students' achievement of grammar in English.

The researcher was applied pre experimental in one class pre-test and post-test. This research conducted at SMPN 8 Makassar sub-district of Manggala, Makassar city. In this research the population was the eight students of SMPN 8 Makassar in 2018/2019 academic year. The researcher used total sampling technique. The total number of sample was 33 students from class VIII-9. In analysing the numerical data, the writer used SPSS from windows.

After conducted the research, the researcher concludes that the used of Duolingo application in teaching grammar of English enhance the students' achievement; it is proved by the mean score of the students' in pre-test and post-test. The mean score of pre-test (before treatment) was 46,79 and in post-test (after treatment) the students' gained score 64,36. The T-test of the students' achievement in pre-test and post-test was smaller than α . The writer found that the p-value (probability value) was lower than α ($0.00 < 0.05$) and the degree of freedom was 32. The t-test value of pre-test and post-test was remarked significantly different. It indicated that the alternative hypothesis (H_A) was accepted and, of course, the null hypothesis (H_0) was rejected.

ABSTRAK

Irna Pitaloka Allotodang. Teaching English Using Duolingo Application to Enhance Students' Achievement. (Dibimbing oleh Dahlia D. Moelir dan Andi Hamzah Fansury).

Latar belakang penelitian ini adalah fakta bahwa pemikiran siswa mengenai pembelajaran bahasa Inggris itu membosankan dan sangat sulit untuk dipelajari.

Penelitian ini bertujuan untuk mengetahui kegunaan dari aplikasi Duolingo dalam meningkatkan kemampuan siswa pada pembelajaran tata bahasa Inggris.

Penelitian ini menggunakan metode pre-eksperimental. Penelitian ini dilaksanakan di SMP Negeri 8 Makassar, Kecamatan Manggala, Kota Makassar. Populasi pada penelitian ini adalah siswa kelas delapan dari SMP Negeri 8 tahun akademik 2018/2019. Peneliti menggunakan teknik total sampling dalam pengambilan sampel. Total sampel dalam penelitian ini adalah 33 orang dari siswa kelas VIII-9. Dalam melakukan analisa data, peneliti menggunakan aplikasi SPSS Windows.

Setelah melaksanakan penelitian, peneliti menyimpulkan bahwa penggunaan aplikasi Duolingo untuk pengajaran dalam bahasa Inggris dapat meningkatkan kemampuan siswa; hal ini dibuktikan dengan nilai rata-rata siswa saat pre-test dan post-test. Nilai rata-rata siswa saat pre-test (sebelum treatment) adalah 46,79 dan saat post-test (setelah treatment) nilai yang dapat dicapai adalah 64,36. Hasil t-test diperoleh bahwa nilai pre-test dan post-test lebih kecil dari α . Penulis menemukan bahwa p-value lebih rendah dari α ($0.00 < 0.05$) dan degree of freedom adalah 32. Nilai t-test dari pre-test dan post-test ditandai dengan perbedaan yang signifikan. Ini mengindikasikan bahwa alternative hypothesis (HA) diterima dan tentunya null hypothesis (H₀) ditolak.

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION

This chapter deals with background, problem statement, objective of the research, significant of the research, and scope of the research.

A. Background

Humans are social creature, and thus, they need to interact one to another. This interaction can only be possible if those participating communicate one another. In Webster's New College Dictionary, communication is defined as a process by which information is exchange between individual through a common means of communication is language. In this interaction, language is used to express thoughts, ideas, and feelings. Language makes interaction and communication run smoothly.

Language is an instrument and it will connect us to people around us. According to Pateda (2011:2), language is sounds issued by means of human speech that has meaning. Communication consists of two parts, verbal communication and non-verbal communication. Non-verbal communication is a communication without sound such as, hand movements, signs and so on. Verbal communication is a communication in which language is used as the instrument even spoken or written (Chaer&Agustina 2010:20).

Due to increase communication among people from different places of origins and linguistic background there is a need to agree on international language as a means of communication. In other word, language has an important rule for human life.

English has been the most important language in international communication. The people from all over the world speak the language when they meet international meetings, workshops, or conferences. Most countries in the world have set the language as one of the compulsory subject studied at schools. English is a subject in school curriculum of school that must be taught by the teacher. Although it is a foreign language, the students have to master that language in order to develop their skills and reach their dreams in future.

In English there are four skills to be learned, they are listening, speaking, reading and writing. Beside the four skills, English has some aspects which can be taught to the students. Those aspects are, vocabulary, pronunciation, and grammar. They are called language aspects. In order to learn English well, both the language skills and language aspects are interrelated each other.

Teaching English in Indonesia is not an easy job. There are many problems in teaching English. First, the understanding of most of the students are English is a hard subject to learn. However, it have an effect in students willingness of learning English. Second, the condition of the students who are lack of vocabulary that will make them unable to understand in learning English. Third, the students often speak their mother-tongue language, which is it makes them are unaccustomed with English.

Teaching English needs a method to activate and improve the students ability of four skills in English, which are most important to the English teacher find solutions by creating efficient and effective technique, even find some way to make the learning process English are going to be fun. Teacher have to follow the modern era, the era when everything are easy to find by internet, the era when students can learn about something anywhere and anytime they want by using application in Smartphone.

The students in this era are very accustomed with Smartphone, they even are smarter and know how to use Smartphone than the old people. This moment, are good to be use by teacher in increase the student willingness in learning English. Learning English by using application is one of the best way to them interest in learning. They did not have to sit in the class when they want to learn English, they can learn in everywhere and everyday.

Duolingo is an application designed to help people learn languages easily and comfortably, so that doing so doesn't feel like you're studying, but rather just having fun with one more game or application on people device. The application allows people to learn a lot of different language, and of them are English.

This writer focused on the effect of learning English for the student by using Duolingo application, the effect in student understanding of grammar in reading in English.

Relating to the description above the writer intended to do research under the title "Teaching English Using Duolingo Application to Enhance Students Achievement".

B. Identification of Problem

The research problems that the writer propose can be identify as follows :

1. Students' ability in mastering grammar in English.
2. Students often feel bored or lazy in learning of English in the class.

C. Restricting the Problem

From the identifications of the problems above, the writer focused on enhanced of grammar skills through using Duolingo application on smartphone.

D. Formulation of the Problem

Based on the explanation above, the writer formulated the following research questions :

1. How is there significant improvement in grammar in English using Duolingo application to enhance students' achievement ?
2. How is the students' interest in learning using Duolingo ?

E. Objective of the Research

The main objective of the research were follows :

1. To identify the improvement of teaching grammar in English using Duolingo application.
2. To identify the students' interest in learning grammar in English using Duolingo application .

F. Significance of Research

The main significances of the research were follows :

1. Giving motivation for students to think another way to motivation and innovate in studying English.
2. For giving advantages to all English teachers in SMPN 8 Makassar so that all of the English teacher will know more about how to improve student willingness in learning English.

CHAPTER II

REVIEW OF RELATED LITERATURE

In this chapter the researcher discuss about Duolingo application, grammar, interest in learning English, previous related findings and hypothesis.

A. Theoretical Review

1. Duolingo Application

Duolingo is a free language-learning platform that includes a language-learning website and app, as well as a digital language proficiency assessment exam. As of January 2019, the language-learning website and app offer 85 different language courses in 24 languages. The app has about 200 million registered users across the world (source by Duolingo).

Duolingo is an application designed to help people learn languages easily and comfortably, so that doing so doesn't feel like people studying, but rather just having fun with one more game or application on people's android device.

The application allows people to learn a lot of different languages, such as Spanish, English, French, Italian or Portuguese. People just have to choose the language that they want to lean the first time they use the application.

Duolingo is an application service headquartered in Pittsburgh, PA, U.S. it was launched on November 30, 2011, by Luis von Ahn and his graduated students Severin Hacker and then developed along with Antonio Navas, Vicki Cheung, Marcel Uekerman, Brendan Meeder, Hector Villafuerte, and Jose Fuentes.

Inspiration for Duolingo came from two places. Luis Van Ahn wanted to create another program that served two purposes in one, what he calls a “twofer”.

Duolingo originally did this by teaching its users a foreign language while having them translate simple phrases in documents, though the translation feature has since been removed. Von Ahn was born in Guatemala and saw how expensive it was for people to learn English. Severin hacker (born in Zug, Switzerland), co-founder of Duolingo, and Von Ahn believe that “free education will really change the world” and wanted to supply the people an outlet to do so.

The project was originally sponsored by Luis von Ahn’s MacArthur fellowship and a National Science Foundation grant. Additional funding was later received in the form of investments from Union Square Ventures and actor Ashton Kutcher’s firm, A-Grade investments.

Duolingo started its private beta on November 30, 2011, and accumulated a waiting list of more than 300,000 users. On June 19, 2012, Duolingo launched for the general public. Due to popular interest, Duolingo received many investments including a $20 million Series C round of investments led by KleinerCaufield& Byers and a $45 million Series D round of investment led by Google Capital. Duolingo has 95 staff members, of whom many were Google employees, and operates from an office in Pittsburgh neighborhood of East Liberty.

On November 13, 2012, Duolingo released their iOS app through the iTunes App Store. The application is a free download and is compatible with most iPhone, iPod, and iPad devices. On May 29, 2013, Duolingo released their Android app, which was downloaded about a million times in the first three weeks and quickly became the #1 education app in the Google Play Store. As of 2017, the company had a total funding of $108.3 million. Duolingo received a fifth-round $25 million on July 2017 from Drive Capital, with the funds directed toward creating initiatives such as Tinycards and Duolingo Labs.

2. Grammar

The art of teaching a second language is being able to give students an insight on how the language works in general. This is the practical grammar which should be introduced in the curriculum. It is not teaching just some abstract and strange concepts and names to the students but teaching the rules governing the structure of the language within the context. That is why teaching grammar is so important. Imagine the case of a student, who has no experience in learning a second language. He would probably think that every language structure is the same as his own language and it would take a long time for him to see the difference in the structure of the two languages. However, when we talk about different structures within languages, this gives the student an insight about the second language. Grammar plays a very important role in English sentences. In English, each sentence always contains a tense. But what is Grammar ?

a. Definition of Grammar

The word grammar has several meanings and there is no universally accepted definition on it. Grammar is defined by Celce-Murcia and Larsen-Freeman (1999: 2) "Grammar is a way that accounts the structure of the target language and its communicative use". "...we will need to take into consideration how grammar operates at three levels; the subsentential or morphological level, the sentential or syntactic level, and the suprasentential or discourse level”.

Hornby in Oxford Advanced Learner’s Dictionary of Current English (1995: 517) defines grammar as “the rules in a language for changing the form of words and combining them into sentences”. According to Williams (2005: 2) “Grammar is the formal study of the structure of a language and describes how words fit together in meaningful constructions”.

In another way, Harmer (2001: 12) also defines that “grammar is the description of the ways in which words can change their forms and can be combined into sentences in that language”. Leech et al (1986: 4) also define that “grammar is a mechanism for putting words together. It is a central part of language which relates sound and meaning. The meaning has to be converted into words and put together to grammatical rules”.

Although the descriptions of grammar mentioned above are different, the goal is basically equal that “grammar is a description of how elements of a language are systematically combined”.

b. The Importance of learning Grammar

After knowing the definition, it is not hard for us to understand why grammar is useful and important. Without knowing grammar, someone cannot be said to have learnt because grammar tells us how to use language. Celce-Murcia and Larsen Freeman suggest that (1999: 2) “Grammar is important to be taught because it affects students’ performance in all four skills – listening, speaking, reading, and writing”. Thornbury (1994: 4) also defines that “Students are expected incomprehending written or spoken English, they must know the system rule of grammar of a target language since grammar is a tool for making meaning”.

c. Methods for Teaching Grammar

Because of many viewpoints stating that grammar is an important language aspect should be possessed and mastered. It would be better to review some methods includes the grammar aspects in language teaching and learning (Larsen-Freeman, 1986). Following are some of them:

1. Grammar Translation Method

This method emphasizes grammar component to be taught, grammatical rules are given in quite large proportion and are taught deductively because the fundamental purpose of language learning is to be able to read literature written in the target language.

2. Communicative Language Learning

This method has main objective in language teaching and learning; that is students' communication ability. However the grammar aspect is given in quite proportion as the pre communicative activities.

3. Audio-lingual Method

The goal of this method is that students are hoped to be able to use the language communicatively. There are many drillings as forming habits in target language. Grammar is taught inductively through given examples, explicit grammar rules are not provided.

4. Direct Method

The objective of learning is to make the learners communicate in target language. Thus, the proportion of grammatical rules to be taught is relatively just little. It tends to be taught inductively, that learners are provided with examples and they figure out the rule or generalization from the examples.

d. Kinds of Grammar

There are so many types of English grammar that should be known, but the most basic of English Grammar is tenses. In learning English, one of the general and basic problems that are usually faced is tenses problem. Most of students do not understand what is spoken in tenses problem (Pardiyono: 2007)

According to Pardiyono (2007), tense is a variation of the change of verb form includes full verb, be and auxiliary that are usually used as predicate in the sentence, which should be appropriated with the kinds of time expression. The words tense stands for a verb form or series of verb form used to express time relation. Tenses may indicate whether in action, activity, or state is past, present or future (Hornby: 1986).

Many teachers find that tenses are far more difficult to teach than: say, vocabulary; although planning a lesson around a tense is obviously easier, actually teaching it may be a different matter. Despite their best efforts, students consistently misuse, misunderstand and misapply tenses. Therefore, considering the essential role of tenses, teacher should consider what kind of method is appropriately used in teaching tenses.

There are many kinds of tenses, but in this case, the researcher just want to explain some tenses; simple present tense, simple past tense and past continuous tense. According to Pardiyono (2007), if you understand the rules about the change of verb form and also understand about the grouping of time expression, you have not gotten difficulties in using tenses.

1. Simple Present Tense

Simple present tense is a tense used to assert an activity that has been a habit or action. There are two types of present tense; verbal and nominal

a) Verbal, it means that the sentence of present tense uses a verb. The form as follow:

Table 2.1 The Pattern of Simple Present Tense Verbal

Positive (+)	S + V1(s/es)
Negative (-)	S + do/does not + V1
Affirmative (?)	Do/Does + S + V1 ?

Where :

S = Subjek

V = Verb

For example :

(+) She goes to school every morning

(-) She doesn't go to school every morning

(?) Does she go to school every morning?

For the interrogative sentence, do/does must be put before subject. We use /s/ or /es/ if the pronouns are he, she, it. We add /es/ in a verb if the verb is ended by /o/, /ss/, /x/, /sh/, and /ch/, and the subject are he, she, it.

b) Nominal, it means that the sentence does not use a verb, but it can be adjective or adverb of place. The pattern as follow:

Table 2.2 The Pattern of Simple Present Tense Nominal

Positive (+)	S + To be (is, am, are) + ...
Negative (-)	S + To be (is, am, are) not + ...
Affirmative (?)	To be (is, am, are) + S + ... ?

For example :

(+) Jenny is beautiful.

(-) Jenny is not beautiful.

(?) Is Jenny beautiful?

For interrogative sentence, to be (is, am, are) must be put before subject because it indicates question. "Is" is used for „he“, „she“, and „it“. „Am" is used for „I“. While „are" is used for „they“, „we" and „you“.

2. Simple Past tense

Past tense is generally used to assert an action or event that is done or happens in the past time (Martinet and Thomson : 1986). Common time expressions that are used the Simple Past Tense includes yesterday, ago, last week, last month, for three years, etc.

The simple past tense is used to talk about:

- a) It is used for actions completed in the past at a definite time.
- b) It is used for past habit.
- c) It is used in conditional sentences.
- d) Past states (long-lasting situations or feelings).

Example: My father knew the Prime Minister.

The forms of Simple Past Tense:

Table 2.3 The Pattern of Simple Past Tense

Positive (+)	S + V2
Negative (-)	S + Did not + V1
Affirmative (?)	Did + S + V1

For example :

(+) They came to my party last week

(-) They did not come to my party last week

(?) Did they come to my party last week?

3. Past Continuous Tense

Past continuous tense is a form of time to express an event which is happening in the past (Wignel and Gerot :1994)

The uses of past continuous tense are:

1. Past continuous is used with a point in time, it expresses an action that begins before that time and is probably continue after.
2. To express activity or event happening in the past using time expression of adverb of time.
3. To express two things or activities happening at the same time in the past

The form of past continuous tense are:

Table 2.4 The Pattern of Past Continuous Tense

Positive (+)	S + To be past (was/were) + Ving
Negative (-)	S + To be past (was/were) not + Ving
Affirmative (?)	To be past (was/were) + S + Ving ?

For example:

(+) I was watching TV when my father came home.

(-) I was not watching TV when my father came home.

(?) Was I watching TV when my father came home ?

3. Interest in Learning English.

Learning can be considered as a process of getting knowledge. Students' interest is important in learning and interest also plays an important role in developing students' thinking ability.

Learning English as a foreign language is a complex process. The students have to know to learn well. Therefore, in teaching and learning English as a foreign language in junior high school, it is very important for teachers to give their best effort to develop their English. But the fact shows that many students failed in this subject, not to neglect that there were also some students which passed in this subject in the Final Examination though with very limited value. It shows that the teaching and learning activity especially of English has failed.

The success of teaching and learning English activity is influenced by many factors. The factors may occur before or during the process of the activity. Some factors come from the students' surroundings, some others are from the students themselves such as motivation, interest and etc.

Interest is one of the internal factors in learning activity. Interest is the desire of somebody toward something as influence of environment where or they live. But before discussing the importance of interest, here some of the definition of interest according to the several experts, some of them are.

Winkel (1983: 83) states that interest is a stable trend in subject, interest is certain case, and pleasant to involve in that case. He adds the positive judging would build the sense of the satisfactory, happy and sympathy while negative feeling build the sense of lazy, unpleasant, hateful and afraid.

Moreover, AlisufSabri (1998) says that interest is a tendency toward something to be frequently notified and recalled gaudily. Interest is closely relative to feeling, mainly a pleasure. Therefore, interest would be happening because of pleasure toward something.

Based of the definition above, we can know that interest is the important aspect to get success learning English and it can influence of someone when they want to do something. Without having interest, someone will have no any willingness to do everything.

DewaKetutSukardi (1989:63) said that interest can be divided into two, they are :

- a. Expressed interest: someone can express his or her interest through certain words. For example, they can said that “I like learning English very much” etc.
- b. Manifested interest: someone can manifest his or her interest through certain activities. For example someone interest in learning English , she or he do exercise from teacher, active in learning English and they will buy English book or note book.

So, the teacher should be make the students interest in this two kinds of interest in the students' self. They did not just said that they like English, but they also do practice in English.

In addition, Tim PenulisDepdikbud (1980) formulates a boundary of interest and its importance in teaching learning process. They said that interest influences the process of learning result, when a person is not interested in learning something, the result cannot be expected to be well successful. It is assumed that the student with great interest in learning English will be more successful, and the result will be maximal than the student with little or no interest at all.

Interest in student learning is influenced by several factors, among others: the internal and external factors. The internal factor is the factor that comes from the learners themselves, for example: tired, sick act. While external factors are factors from outside the learners themselves, for example: classroom full of conditions: boring of learning strategies, lack of learning resources such as books about the package, and others.

Interest is a positive factor in learning English. It is important for teacher and students in teaching and learning English. It means that without interest to learn, speaking, reading, writing and listening of the students, the learning activity cannot be done in a proper way. Furthermore, the importance of interest in learning activity can help developing students motivation and to encourage students to do the activities necessary during learning process.

In teaching and learning process, interest is important for the teacher to give great attention to development of the students interest because, this is the key of success of English learning.

In the school education, teacher should pay more attention to train and maintain the students interest in learning English. Therefore, interest should be aroused. By arousing interest in lessons can improve the way of thinking, the way of studying so that the lesson can be mastered. Motivation is closely related to the arousing in learning, and its development is a basic of learning activity. Teacher should encourage the students so that stimuli can bring satisfaction and pleasure.

Interests powerfully influence students' academic and professional choices. That is the teacher's responsibility to establish the relations between students' interest and knowledge. When students are interested in what they are learning, hopefully they will pay closer attention, they will also process the information more efficiently, and employ more effective learning strategies, such as engaging in critical thinking, making connection between old and new knowledge, and attending to deep structure instead of surface features. Further, when the students are interested in a task, they will work harder and persist longer, bringing more of their self-regulatory skill into play.

Idit Katz et.al. (2006) call interest as intrinsic interest or intrinsic value defined as "the enjoyment people experience when doing a task, or their subjective interest in the content of the task". They said that intrinsic interest may enable children to remain occupied in a task as enjoyable and as containing personally meaningful information, which they can connect with various issues that interest them. In addition, children who have an interest in a certain topic, might be able to rely on internal cues as to how well they are doing due to their experience with similar tasks.

Students who are interested in learning usually have high motivation. They are very enthusiastic to do something. Then it will make an effort to follow the learning process intensively, and they will learn the lessons as well as possible not only in the school but also out of school.

In learning English, they usually pay attention to what they learn. So they are easy to absorb most of the teacher gives them or gains the knowledge from the books.

They also have needs toward the lesson and usually have a clear target to gain what they want to reach. Of course, they will be intended for doing something to make maximally effort to learn.

Most of the have desires about what they are going to learn. With high interest, students can master more information in long-time memory. It helps them to answer the examination given. At least they possible to get better result in English.

In other words, the more interest and the more attentive they follow the lesson in English, the better English learning achievement they will acquire.

B. Previous Related Research Findings

Some researcher have conducted some studies relating to the improving students ability in English through some application and improving grammar. They are as follows :

Solanki D. Shyamlee, M Phil in his research “Use of Technology in English Language Teaching and Learning”:An Analysis. The result of his research is the ultimate goals of multimedia language teaching is to promote students’ motivation and learning interest, which can be a practical way to get them involved in the language learning. Concerning about the development of technology, the researcher believe that in future, the use of multimedia English teaching will be further developed. The process of English learning will be more student-centered but less time-consuming. The writer believe that this process can fully improve students' ideation and practical language skills, which is helpful and useful to ensure and fulfill an effective result of teaching and learning.

Ramyagangaiamaran and MadhumathiPasupathi in their research about "Review on Use of Mobile Apps for Language Learning". They found that mobile devices provide plenty of resources to develop the listening skill of the learners who can be exposed to authentic material like live streams, English songs, radio, listening to English news. The research classified the mobile apps with the objective of aiding the English language learners to choose the suitable app. The categorization of apps can enhance the use of mobile learning in acquiring different skills in language.

C. Conceptual Framework

In Indonesia, English has a position as a foreign language. Whenever students need to be able in use English. In English there are four skills, they are listening, speaking, reading and writing. The four skills in English is important to be master. But the writer focus only in the reading skill. However students have to learn about the reading, without ignore one of the skill. To make students interested in learning English in the class, teacher should find the suitable material and a good strategy to teaching English.

To be master in reading skills in English is not easy, student have to give attention. This is the section of teacher to find the alternative to make student be able to learning anywhere and anytime.

Duolingo application help students to learn English comfortably and easily. In duolingo application students have placement test that can make students learn English by the knowledge they have. Learning by Duolingo application would be taken anywhere and anytime. In Duolingo application also improve students ability in reading skills in English. In this case, the researcher will use Duolingo application to teach students to improve students ability in English.

In the teaching of reading, both teacher and students are influenced each other in that process. The teacher is a facilitator learning personal and social change by assisting the developing person at those points where help is requested. Teacher should have a set of exercises, tasks or other activities for the students in their classes. It is really beneficial and positive experience to try various classroom activities because successful materials of the subject matter depend on the use of teaching technique. To teach English there are several techniques which can be used by the teacher. By using the techniques, the teacher will easily teach speaking. She/he has to be creative to prevent students' boredom because of decreasing interest and motivation.

Any solutions must be acquired to solve problem appeared in the teaching and learning process. Duolingo application are the good way to solve the problems that have been discussed in this case in which teachers can use Duolingo application to teach students while these were having fun. In addition, by using Duolingo application, students will have more opportunities to practice ability. They also will be more creative in improving their ideas. Consequently, the English language class activities will run better than before.

D. Hypothesis

A hypothesis is the statement or estimation of identifying feature in temporary of research which has weak correctness so that it needs empirical experiment. The word of hypothesis is from the word “hypo” that has meaning under and “thesa” that has meaning correctness.

Based on the description above, the writer proposes the hypothesis that :

H₁ :There is a significant improvement of using Duolingo application towards students' ability in English at the eight grade of SMP Negeri 8 Makassar in the academic year of 2018/2019.

H₀ :There is no significant improvement of using Duolingo application towards students' achievement in English at the eight grade of SMP Negeri 8 Makassar in the academic year of 2018/2019.

CHAPTER III

RESEARCH METODOLOGY

This chapter present the research design, time and location of the research, population and sample of the research, variable and operational definition, instrument, procedure of collecting data, and technique of data analysis.

A. Research Design

This research was conduct with pre-experimental design research. The researcheradministered a pre-test to all subjectbefore the students using Duolingo application to assessing their knowledge in English. A post-test conducted after the students using Duolingo application to learn, this action for see the result for the student.

The design involved one class to which the researcher administered a pre-test, treated the students to usedDuolingo application and administered a post-test. The success of the using of Duolingoapplication determined by comparing the result of pre-test and post-test.

The design can be present as follows :

$$O_1 X O_2$$

Where :

O_1 = Pre-test

X = Treatment

O_2 = Post-test

B. Time and Location of the Research

The research took for two weeks (four meetings) from 22th July 2019 until 3rd August 2019. This research conducted at SMPN 8 Makassar.

C. Population and Sample of the Research

1. Population

The population of this research were the second year student of SMPN 8 Makassar in academic year 2018/2019 which is divide in to twelve class. The total number of the population approximately 456 students.

2. Sample

The researcher used total sampling technique. The researcher took one class from the target population for the research. The total number of sample were 33 students.

D. Research Variables and Operational Definition

1. Variables of the Research

A variable is a characteristic or attribute of an individual or an organization that researchers can measure or observe and varies among individuals or organizations studied. According to Hatch (1982:12) "Variable can be defined as an attribute of a person or an object which "Varies" from person or from object to object". And also stated that "The independent variable is the major variable which is selected, manipulated and measured by the research. The dependent variable, on other hand, is the variable which you observe and measure to determine the effect of the independent variable.

a. Independent Variable

Independent variables are those that researcher chooses to study in order to assess their possible effect(s) on one or more other variables. An Independent variable is presumed to affect (at least partly cause) or somehow influence at least one other variable. The independent variable is Duolingo application.

b. Dependent Variables

The variable that the independent variable is presumed to affect is called a dependent variable. In common sense term, the dependent variable —depend on what the independent variable does to it, how it affects it. The indicator is students' ability.

2. Operational Definition of Variable

To prevent bias interpretation especially related to the terms used in this study, operational definitions of the involve variables are formulate as follows :

- a. The using of Duolingo application in learning grammar, it is means that Duolingo application is use to improve students ability of grammar in English.
- b. The students achievement in grammar of English means that the grammar in English have mastery by the students after the treatment which is indicated by a better score in the post-test than in the pre-test.

E. Instrument of the Research

There was one kind of instrument that used in this research it is test. The test is contain the question about students' ability in grammar .The test consisted of pre-test and post-test. The pre-test administered before use the Duolingo application to get data on the students' prior knowledge, while the post-test gave after use the Duolingo application to get data on the impact of using Duolingo application.

F. Procedure of Collecting Data

In collecting the data, the researcher collects the data by employing these procedures :

1. Pre-test

Before the students using Duolingo application, the researcher gave pre-test for the students to find out the students prior knowledge.

2. Treatment

After the writer gave the pre-test for the students, the researcher asked the students to learn English with fun way by using Duolingo application, the researcher introduced the Duolingo application and how to use it. The treatment was done after the students have to finish the session in Duolingo application.

This treatment took four times meeting and each meeting spend 90 minutes.

The following steps were undertaken :

- a. The researcher give pre reading text and introduced the material about grammar.
- b. The researcher introduce Duolingo application and how to operate the application.
- c. The researcher ask the students to do the task in the application.
- d. The students do the exercise every day and have to finish the challenge.

3. Post-test

Post-test gave to all students, to know their improvement in grammar of English. This is administered to measure the students' progress in grammar of reading after having the treatments. The question in the post-test is similar in pre-test.

4. Students' interest.

To measure the students' interest in learning English by Duolingo application, the researcher gave a questionnaire to all the students. The questionnaire containing several items of questions to answer. This question contents some about question the respondents dealing with the students' interest in learning English using Duolingo application. The questionnaire deal with respondents' options in responding to the following option:

- a. Very Agree
- b. Agree
- c. Not Agree

G. Technique of Data Analysis

1. The reading skills test

The data was collect in the line with instruments and analyzed by employing the following procedures :

- a. Scoring the students' correct answer of the pre-test and post-test by using the following formula :

$$\text{Score} = \frac{\text{The total of students' correct answer}}{\text{Total number of items in test}} \times 10$$

Helmin in Rustan (2010:21)

- b. Classifying the score of the students into the following measurement scale:

Table 3.1 Classification of students' score

No	Classification	Range of score
1	Excellent to very good	84-100
2	Good to average	68-83
3	Fair to poor	51-67
4	Very poor	34-50

Heaton in Rustan (2010:21)

- c. Calculating the mean score, finding out the standard deviation of pre-test and post-test, computing the frequency and the rate percentage if the students' scores and testing the hypothesis of significant difference between pre-test and post-test on some independent variable by calculating the value of independent using t-test using SPSS 16.0.
- d. For the result of the questionnaire, all the data were analyzed in percentage of qualitative which is made systematically with formula as follows:

$$P = \frac{F}{N} \times 100 \%$$

Notation :

P = the percentage

F = the frequently

N = number of respondents

(Sudjiono , 2006:43)

CHAPTER IV

FINDINGS AND DISCUSSIONS

This chapter elaborates the findings of the research and the discussions of the findings. The findings are correlated with the problem statements stated in the introduction part. The findings presented in this part consists of the data obtained through the test in order to see the students' achievement in grammar of reading in English after giving them the treatments using Duolingo application. In this discussion section, it deals with the descriptions and interpretations of the findings in this research. The findings that the researcher reported in this research were based on the analysis of data collection and the application of the technique elaborated in the previous chapter.

A. Findings

1. The Interpretation of The Result of Students' Achievement Test.

This section deals with the presentation and elaboration of data about pre-test and post-test, and the students' improvement in learning vocabulary before and after employing treatments. In addition, mean score of pre-test and post-test, and questionnaire and standard deviation of pre-test and post-test as consideration in this research is also explored further. The detailed results are provided in the further presentation of the data.

a. Scoring Classification of The Students' Pre-Test.

The presentation of data in this part was obtained through the reading test interpretations. The interpretations were analyzed in three stages : scoring the students' reading test, classifying the students' score, and calculating the mean score, standard deviation, frequency, and other supporting source of statistical elements.

The students' score and classification in pre-test. Below is the tables show the students' reading score in pre-test.

As being stated earlier that after tabulating and analyzing the students' scores into percentage, they were classified into four levels based on Heaton in Rustan (2010:21). The following table is the students' pre-test score and percentage of experimental and control group.

Table 4.2 The Percentage of Students' Pre-test Score

Source : Students' pre-test

Based on the data in table 4.1, the pre-test showed that of 33 students, not there students were categorized as excellent to very good. At the next level it is categorized as good to average by 2 (6%). There are 11 (33%) students who are positioned in the fair to poor category and students who are in very poor category 20 (61%).

b. The mean score and standard deviation of students' pretest.

Before the treatments were performed, the researcher was given pre-test to know the students' prior knowledge. Furthermore, the purpose of the test was to find out whether the students as the same level or not.

After calculating the result of the students' pre-test, the mean score and standard deviation are presented in the following table.

Table 4.3 The Mean Score and Standard Deviation of Students' Pretest

Mean Score	Standard Deviation
46.78	13.322

Based on the classification above, the mean score of the pre-test was considered very poor with the standard deviation 13.322. It indicates that the score of the classification reached by the students' are still low.

c. Scoring classification of the students' post-test.

The students' score and classification in post-test. Below is the tables show the students' score in post-test.

Source : Students' post-test

The scores of students' achievement were classified into four levels. Those score then were tabulated and analyzed into percentage. The following table is the statistical summary of the students post-test.

Table 4.5 The Percentage of Students' Post-test Score.

Classification	Score	Frequency	Percentage
Excellent to Very Good	84-100	5	15
Good to Average	68-83	9	27
Fair to Poor	51-67	13	40
Very Poor	34-50	6	18
Total		33	100

From the classification, the scores, and the rate percentage of the post-test illustrated in the table above that out of 33 student, the last category were 6 students (18%), 13 students (40%) with the fair category and the 9 students (27%) with the good category. And the very good categorize were reach by 5 students(15%) which is in the pre-test, no one of the students could get the category.

Based on the description above, it is clear that there is a improvement of students' in grammar of English by the students' on post-test through treating those students used the Duolingo application.

d. The mean score and standard deviation of students' post-test.

The result of the post-test was defined to be the way to know the mean score and standard deviation. The following table presents the mean score and the standard deviation of post-test.

Table 4.6The Mean and Standard Deviation of Students' Post-test

Mean Score	Standard Deviation
64.37	14.878

It can be observed in the table above that the post-test was valued 64.37 for its mean score with the standard deviation obtained 14,878. It can be referred from the description about the mean score and the students deviation for post-test. Post-test produces a better improvement or a higher achievement that turns from the pre-test 46.78 o the post-test 64.37 or from very poor classification to the fair classification.

e. Test of significance (t-test).

T-test is a test to measure whether or not there is a significance difference between the result of the students' mean scores in the pre-test and post-test. By using inferential analysis of t-test the significant differences can be easier to analyze.

The level of significance is (α) = 0.05 and the degree of freedom (df) = 32, N1-1, the number of students (33) minus 1. The following table illustrates the t-test value result :

Table 4.7 The Paired t-test Value of Students' Achievement

Variables	Probability Value	α	Remarks
Pre-test & Post Test	0.00	.05	Significantly Different

Based on the result of data analysis as summarized in table 4.5 pre-test and post-test, the researcher found that the p-value (probability value) was lower than α ($0.00 < 0.05$) and the degree of freedom was 32. The t-test indicated that the alternative hypothesis (H1) was accepted and the null hypothesis (H0) was rejected. It showed that the use of Duolingo Application significantly enhance students' achievement in learning grammar of English. It is more effective, more productive and faster to enhance the students' achievement.

B. Discussion

This part presents the discussion of the test result both pre-test and post-test and the research findings. There are two research question proposed in this study. The first discussion is about the improvement of students' grammar in learning English through the Duolingo application. And the second is the students interest in learning through the Duolingo application.

1. The Students' Achievement in Grammar of Reading.

After finishing the whole experience for 4 meetings, the post-test was conducted, which had the same material as the pre-test. These could be done by finding out the means, the standard deviation of the two group and also the T-test of the pre-test and the post-test.

From the computation of the mean score of the pre-test and post-test , it was found out that the mean score of the pre-test was 46.79, while the mean score of the post-test was 64.36.

It was also found that the standard deviation of the post-test was higher than the standard deviation of the pre-test ($14.878 > 13.322$).

Therefore it was conclude that Duolingo application can give the contribution to the students' for learning grammar of English, since the students' who taught by using Duolingo application got higher scores than the students' who taught by traditional method.

In this study, the number of subject in this research is 33. The degree of freedom is 32.

By noticing the result of students' pre-test, the researcher assumed that the prior knowledge of the students seem lack because the students did not have any knowledge about the test or they are not given the treatment yet.

The result of the post-test indicates that the use of Duolingo application gives progress significantly toward students' achievement. It means all students could enhance their achievement in understanding the grammar of English; it is proved by the students' result of mean score before and after the treatment get increase as stated before. The students' achievement showed post-test better.

The statistical data based on the t-test through SPSS Version 16 to test the hypothesis indicated that the probability value of the experimental group is lower than alpha (α) in which ($0.00 < 0.05$). It means that the H_A of the hypothesis was accepted.

Based on the findings of the research above, the researcher may point out that before giving the treatment (pre-test), almost students in poor classification in understanding the grammar of vocabulary.

According to Harjono (1998:93) there are some function of instruction material, those are as the medium of information, to stimulate the students' interest, to develop the students' ability, and to illustrate things.

The researcher thinks that the use of Duolingo application in teaching and learning process is very important. There will be better for the teacher to always combine some alternative in teaching in order to make the students interest and make the students not feel bored in learning English.

2. Students' Interest in Learning English Using Duolingo Application.

The researcher makes a conclusion that the students interested with the Duolingo application for learning English.

To measure the students interest of learning English by Duolingo application, the researcher give the questionare to the students'. The students' need to answer the question if they are interested in learning English or not. And the students need to choose the appropriate answer by checkmarks the option, namely : 1) Very Agree, 2) Agree, and 3) Not Agree. The number of this sample was 33 students'. The question can be seen from the questionnaire items number 1-10. The data are personated on the tables one by one as follows :

The result of the questionnaire presented in this following table :

Meanwhile 32 (97%) were said that they are did not agree with the statement. Which is it means that means Duolingo application really help them to learning English.

Based on the table above, we can see that the students are interested in learning English using Duolingo application. The researcher make the conclusion by the students' answer from the questions number one to five, the most answer form the students were 'SangatSetuju' and 'Setuju', while from number two to four there is no students choose the answer 'TidakSetuju'.

The researcher try to make the negative statement of the questionnaire and result was same, from number eight to six and ten ,almost students choose the 'TidakSetuju' for the answer.

Since the first day the researcher introduce the title of this research, whole of the students were curious to know the application. But before the researcher give treatment for the students, the researcher should give the pre-test first to know the prior knowledge of the students.

After take the pre-test from the students, the researcher introduced the Duolingo application and asked them to install the application on their smartphone.

The researcher asked to the students why they are interested with this research, some of them said that this method was a new method for them. Especially, when they were register for the first time, there are two levels of the class, which is it means that they take the class by their ability. Students did not have to force them self to be higher.

Another reason the students were interested in this application is because, students were able to learning in this application on their smartphone every time and everywhere they want. Students did not have to sit in the class just for learning English.

One plus point from the Duolingo application is, in this application when the students had answer the questions, the right answer will informed to them. If they answer the questions correctly, then they get the point. If they answer the questions wrong they did not get the point, but they also know the correct answer of the question.

In Duolingo application there were another skill of English such as listening and speaking.

In listening session, students were listen to the microphone and write down the right answer on their smartphone. This session was good for students to make their accustomed with the native speaker sound, how the native speaker rhythm, dialect, and another point of how to speak English like the native speaker.

In speaking session, students were asked to speak the several words or sentence. In this session, they have to speak clearly and correctly, because they were not able to continue to another questions before they can speaks the words or sentence correctly.

But in this research, the researcher just took the skill of grammar because this skill are the most question to ask for the students. Such as they have to answer the questions correctly or choose the right answer so the sentence was perfect.

CHAPTER V

CONSLUSION AND SUGGESTION

This chapter presents the conclusion and suggestion based on the findings and a discussion on the data analysis.

A. Conclusion

Based on the research findings and discussion in the previous chapter, the researcher concludes that :

1. The use of Duolingo application in teaching English could enhance the students' achievement in learning English, especially in grammar of English.

It is proved by the mean score of the students' in the pre-test and the post-test. The mean score of the students' pre-test was 46.79 and the score of students' post-test was 64.36. The writer found that the probability value was lower than α ($0.00 < 0.05$) and the degree of freedom was 32. The t-test value of pre-test and post-test was remarked significantly different. It indicated that the alternative hypothesis (H_1) was accepted and the null hypothesis (H_0) was rejected.

2. The students were interested in learning English using Duolingo application, and that is measured by questionnaire that given to the students.

B. Suggestion

Based on the conclusion above, the researcher put forwards some suggestions and recommendations as follows :

1. Suggest that teaching English using Duolingo application can be implemented in another school and students. Because everyone are able to learn English through Duolingo application.
2. Teacher can use Duolingo application as a extra subject in their home so the students could learn by fun ways and did not feel bored or used in the class to make a new atmosphere in teaching to avoid the students' boredom. Because teaching English by Duolingo application is more enjoyable and effective.
3. English teacher should give attention to the method teaching grammar with the fun ways, because some students have to think that grammar is the hardest part of English, but grammar also could not be forgotten because it is important to make the sentence clearly understand.
